Land release with views of the south

THE second stage of premium land at Paringa View has been released to the public.

Part of the Jabiru release, the 26 allotments have sweeping views of the southern hills.

They range in size from 320 sq m to 664 sq m, making them suitable for a variety of housing and lifestyle options.

Officially launched in June, Paringa View has quickly established itself as one of the southern region's most desirable addresses.

The release marks a new direction for the development, with 13 of the available allotments to be sold as house and land packages.

AVJennings executive general manager Peter Jackson says prior to this release all allotments had been sold as land only.

"However, for this sale we have managed to secure arrangements with some of South Australia's leading builders...to develop house and land packages starting from $145,000," says Peter.

"So far the interest shown in Paringa View has been extremely positive...we advise all interested buyers to act quickly to secure land for their new home."

The remaining land only lots are priced from $73,000.
